COLD BLAST

Derive their name from the process employed in purifying them. Examine feathers when plucked from mother goose. Notice the grease, blood, and other animal matter with which the quill end is supercharged

All feathers, in damp, warm weather, have a smell that comes, not from the feathers at all, but from the carron which nobody has succeeded in getting out of them and off from them. Every careful housekeeper knows the smell. She knows that nothing kills The funeral of D. McDougald, son it; that "renovating" doesn't; that that airing every day is necessary, and ing the feathers only makes the smell steamer Keweenaw, on her return to worse. It doesn't come from dampness then; but it does come from carron. And why shouldn't it? The cleanest feathers in the world have some dried flesh and blood in them and warmth and dampness bring out

The medical world have been trying for years to get rid of feathers, because of the danger of breathing all night, every night, air laden with carron. But there is no substitute. People will be comfortable, and feathers are soft.

Heretofore, "cleaning" or "renovating" feathers, has consisted of steamtroit kept Mackinac excursionists at ing them in a tight chamber, so that whatever filth came off from them or out of them, dried on them again. It didn't clean them at all, for the filth couldn't get away.

The heat of steam cannot remove the natural gum from feathers, and just so long as that remains they are unfit for use. In the Cold Blast System all this is obviated. After the washing process, and while all deleterious substances are soft and but slightly adhering, the feathers are whirled through an immense revolving cold-blast machine, traveling miles of space during the process with the velocity of the wind, until all the ob noxious particles are removed and the feathers come out absolutely clean, pure and sweet. Briefly, then, COLD BLAST FEATHERS are superior to all others, because-1st. The Cold Blast purifying process removes from four to seven lbs. of filth, refuse and carron matter from each 100 lbs. of live geese feathers. All other methods fail to relieve feathers of such impurities. 2d. Cold Blast Feathers are guaranteed to be odorless, healthful, and in perfect condition.

3d. Three and one-half pounds of these feathers fill a tick as well as four pounds of the same grade treated in any other manner-a gain of 12} per cent, in bulk to the consumer.

4th. Pillows manufactured of these feathers are larger each way (and equ ally full) than those of the same weight and grade, made of feathers treated by the old-fashioned steaming process.

5th. They are not subjected to the excessive and killing heat, as in the steam-curing process, hence they are more durable, and will not break and
